Wallapai Mining District, Mohave county, Arizona, has drawn many good miners and prospectors from Pioche and vicinity, Nevada—which draw has sort of riled the editor of the Pioche Record, who never lets slip a chance by which he hopes to belittle the mineral wealth of Wallapai. Notwithstanding this, Wallapai District is bounding ahead; and the Navadans there (save those few sore-heads who have been writing to the Record,) are well satisfied with the resources of the District, which all know are great. "These Arizonans are slow" from poverty and isolation, rather than from any fault chargeable to them; and it is not to be wondered at that "many worthless locations have been made." This charge holds good in the case of every mining district on the face of the globe.

REMAINS OF SYLVESTER MOWRY.—According to a letter recently received by us from Hon. Chas. D. Poston, ex-Delegate in Congress from this Territory, the remains of the late Sylvester Mowry are to be brought from London to this country, and buried at Providence, Rhode Island. While at Wickenburg, recently, we read a very feeling, eloquent and just tribute to deceased in a Providence paper, from the pen of U. S. Senator Anthony, of Rhode Island.

FROM TEXAS.—John Robinson, (formerly of Kirkland Valley, in this county, and now of Kosse, Texas), writes us to say that Wm. Carlisle, formerly of Walnut Grove, and several other old Arizonans now in the Southern States, are preparing to come back to Arizona. "Uncle Rob." says Texas, under Radical rule, "is a hell upon earth."

BRIGHT YOUNG.—The last heard from this man of many wives was that he was at St. George, Utah, near the northwestern line of our Territory, afraid, it appeared, to go back to Salt Lake and face the indictments against him.

THANKS.—The thanks of this people are due Major Wm. H. Hooper, of San Francisco, and W. H. Ferris, of New York City, for successful efforts to set the people of their respective cities right on the Indian question. Thank God, the Territory does not lack friends.

"LIVELY PLACE."—Elizabethtown, New Mexico, must be a lively place. A letter from "Billy" Middleton, formerly of this place, gives us an account of two stage robberies, one killing, etc., in a very short space of time. One Jos. Stimpson killed Wall Henderson, and Billy says Henderson was ripe for killing.

L. M. Worth, formerly of Prescott, but now of North Carolina, says, in a recent letter to us, that he is coming back soon, and that men of means are also coming to look at the resources along the line of the proposed 35th parallel railroad.

GREENLEY TO BE HONORED.—The latest statue proposition aims at Horace Greeley, it being proposed that a statue be erected to him in New York City, at a cost of about $25,000; expenses to be defrayed by small contributions from the printers of the United States. The MINER stands ready to chip in.

There has been some talk of impeaching President Grant, for violation of international law, in connection with his San Domingo scheme and several other counts. The N. Y. Herald says Montgomery Blair is at the bottom of the new impeachment farce.

The newspaper correspondents are threatening to supplant Secretary Fish by ex-Judge Pierpont, and Attorney-General Akerman by Geo. H. Williams, of Oregon.

War with Spain.

The Spanish authorities of the West India Islands have been acting badly toward American citizens and vessels, and unless they speedily stop all such nonsense, and make amends for their outrages and insults, they will have "thunderation" knocked out of them, soon. At latest dates they had the American steamship Florida blockaded in the port of St. Thomas. As matters are and have been looking, our Government must soon acknowledge the necessity of annexing Mexico, Cuba, and, perhaps, old Spain.

Manifest destiny, you know, is what the MINER believes in.

GOOD HITS.—Our pungent friend of the San Francisco News Letter has the following good hits which have been handed us by Col. Cany, of this place:

No. 1.—The Pacific Coasters in Congress will move an investigation of Indian Affairs, in order to ascertain if Mr. Colyer's peace policy has been successful. It has; eminently so. Under it the Indians have exhibited a meekness and tractability unparalleled. It is now almost impossible to distinguish an Apache from a peaceable White. About the only difference is that the latter has no scalp and the former has two.

There is another difference; every Apache is provided with a recommendation paper from Colyer or some other Government plunderer, while the Whites, who pay taxes to support Colyer and the Indians, are branded as "White Scoundrels."

No. 2.—Cachise an angel of light, a hero of the Fenimore-Cooper class; vide White Pine News—who whitewashes Vincent Colyer. There is a slight reminiscence of Governor Safford, to the contrary notwithstanding, but as he should know best it will be disregarded.

Forbes, of the White Pine News, knows a great deal about "tar-head squaws," but nothing whatever about Apaches.

Ever since the account of the fatal occurrence of November reached the Atlantic States, the friends of Mr. Loring have been clinging to the hope that he was not a passenger by the ill-fated stage. We see it stated, even now, upon the authority of a prominent New York journal, the editor of which claims to have had private advices, that Mr. Loring could not possibly have been upon the stage at time of its capture and the massacre of the passengers. Unfortunately there is not the slightest foundation for the hope; for we know that he was a passenger by the luckless stage, that he was murdered by the savages, and that his body now rests in a grave at Wickenburg.

The Scientific Press, speaking editorially upon the affairs of Arizona, says: "Whenever we pick up a paper and see the head 'Arizona,' we expect, as a matter of course, to read a list of the names of victims of Apache ferocity and hear of fresh outrages."

This brief remark fully portrays that which has been the condition of Arizona during the past ten years—during which time it would have been regarded as novel and unaccountable had a single month elapsed without adding one more to the list of the Apaches' victims. But we never experienced the novelty, as every month came forth with its offerings of murdered pioneers and ruined habitations.

Members of Congress from the Pacific Coast have places on the following Committees:

Pacific Railroads, Houghton, of California; Commerce, Slater, of Oregon; Post Offices and Post Roads, Houghton, of California; Private Land Claims, Coghlan, of California; Mines and Mining, Sargent, of California, chairman, and Kendall, of Nevada.

Shanks, of Indiana, is Chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs, and all the other members of this Committee are Atlantic Slope men.

Geo. W. Alexander, who resided at Tucson in this Territory, previous to our late civil war, is the writer of a letter of inquiry to us, which asks information regarding the best place in Arizona for a colony of farmers, which he proposes to lead here, soon, and we have advised him to come and select from the numerous valleys of the Salt and Gila rivers. His address is, Box 16, Baxter Springs, Cherokee county, Kansas.

The Turner-Ortiz seduction and breach-of-promise case, in San Francisco, was recently brought to a close by judgment in favor of Miss Turner for $7,500, the greater part of which sum she will have to fork over to her attorneys.

While the people of California, Oregon, Utah, and other States and Territories west of the Missouri, have had a plenty of snow and rain, we of Arizona are "mighty dry" and are anxiously awaiting a wet turn.

The brig J. B. Ford, Captain Weeks, sailed from San Francisco for the mouth of the Colorado, on the 7th inst., laden with goods for the Colorado Steam Navigation company.

CAPITAL AND MINES.

We reproduce the following article upon English capital in the Pacific Coast mines from the editorial columns of the San Francisco Scientific Press:

The recent introduction of English capital into the mining enterprises of the Pacific States and Territories, will give a new and decided stimulus to this branch of industry, and afford means to thoroughly develop properties heretofore worked upon a limited scale. Although, as yet, investments have been confined chiefly or exclusively to mines already developed, it is quite likely that ere long they will be extended to undeveloped mines, when the fact is realized that by so doing they will be able to make terms more favorable to their interests. It is now some fifteen years since the English turned their backs upon California as a field for profitable investment, but since then a great change has taken place. The cost of labor, of machinery, and of almost every appliance for mining, has been materially lessened, while the problem of increase of pay with depth in our quartz mines has been solved satisfactorily. The railroad affords facilities for visiting and examining into the merits of our resources, while by the use of the telegraph the superintendents are enabled to communicate quickly with headquarters and remove all "red-tape" difficulties.

The whole coast presents an unparalleled field for the profitable employment of capital. We have plenty of raw material; all we want is skilled, intelligent labor, combined with capital, to make it available. The question, Will American mining pay? has absorbed much attention, and been ably discussed, pro and con, through the columns of the English mining journals, some of which have their regular correspondents here; while their editorials upon the affairs of the Pacific Coast would do credit to our own papers.

The caution which English capitalists exercise in the examination of mines, is well calculated to prevent the sale of worthless or unproductive properties. Competent mining engineers are almost invariably sent out to make thorough investigations, and, upon their reports, a sale is consummated or the negotiation abandoned. In some instances two or three experts have been required to make reports upon the same mine, before information was gleaned that was satisfactory to the intending purchasers. This caution is in every way commendable, and is a safeguard both to the investors and the owners of good mines, and a matter which many of our capitalists might profit by.

There are many good mines west of the Rocky mountains, which, by enlarging their works and developing further, might be made to pay handsomely, but which, from the scarcity of capital and the high rates of interest here, are unable to make the requisite improvements, but which in European cities, where there is often a plethora of money, and a less rate of interest prevails, would be the best investment that could be presented to the notice of capitalists.

A number of mines of this character have been purchased in London during the past year, many of which are now paying handsome dividends, and the shares of the companies have, in consequence, according to the English papers, taken an advance, some of them being considerably above par. This result is calculated to increase the confidence already manifesting itself in that country, in the richness, extent and permanence of gold and silver mines on the Pacific slope, and is opening up a new field for safe and profitable investment. There can be no doubt that our mines, when worked intelligently and judiciously, promise larger returns than almost any other branch of industry; and there is no reason why, with proper management, they should not pay monthly high rates of interest upon foreign capital expended in their development.

It is to be hoped that English investors will continue to use their habitual caution in the selection of mining properties presented to their notice, thereby giving some of us a lesson, and protecting their own interests, as well as affording means for working many good and valuable mines, which are in need of capital, in order to be made paying institutions.

New Postmasters.

It is with pleasure we state that John S. Carr has been appointed postmaster at Arizona City, and James M. Barney postmaster at Ehrenberg. Better men could not have been found in their respective towns.

The Eureka Sentinel has entered upon a new volume, proclaims the fact and gives in connection a brief history of its life since it dawned upon the world, eighteen months ago.

The California Legislature is now in session. The Senate elected Democratic officers; the House, Republican Officers. Thos. Shannon, of San Francisco, is speaker of the House.

The Spanish authorities of Cuba are opposed to the landing of American newspapers on the Island of Cuba.

SMALL POX.—Philadelphia has this dreaded disease, and, we believe, so has San Francisco, but not bad.

THE "INTERNATIONALS," of New York, were recently forbidden to parade the streets. Cause—fear of a disturbance.
